Pediatric Nurse Practitioner

Degree: The requirements I would need for this job would be to have a masters degree or even higher from a pediatric primary care nurse. About 500 clinical hours of supervised direct care. A bachelor's of science in nursing. A master of science in nursing. Doctor of nursing practice.

Additional training: I would have to complete a NP focused graduate's masters or doctoral nursing program. I also would be doing the the Freeman Health Academy at age 16, which will include shadowing workers, learn about the job field, and also do hands on labs. Which would include dissections, blood draws, starting IV's, and reading vital signs and assessment techniques. I would also be able to get certified for CPR

Pediatric Nurse Practitioner

Where can I do this job:

There is a Freeman clinic located in Neosho where I would be working.

What will I be doing at this job:

Pediatric Nurse Practitioners work on infants, toddlers, and young adults. They work on managing illnesses and diagnostics. They can prescribe antibiotics to children when they are diagnosed. They also keep records of the child's illness history in order to be able to tell what medication will be needed. And also giving them annual checkups

The background of the slide is a solid light pink color. It is decorated with a repeating pattern of white, stylized medical icons. Each icon consists of a rounded rectangle with a small protrusion on the right side, resembling a medical device or a pill. Inside the rectangle, there are three small circles and a vertical line, suggesting a specific medical symbol or a simplified representation of a person or a device. The icons are scattered across the entire background, creating a subtle, thematic pattern.

What is my salary a year:

Pediatric Nurse Practitioners can make up to 89,918 dollars a year in Missouri, plus bonuses.

A typical day:

So most of the time I would have appointments for kids, usually checkups. I would talk to the family and give an examination of the kid. Then determine whether or not they need medication or a trip to the hospital. I would be able to send a prescription to a local pharmacy. And would have to calculate the dosage, depending on the severity of the illness. And after that I would have to chart them.

A company that would hire me:

I would definitely try to work at Freeman Neosho Physician Group. There is a great environment there and it would have the supplies and things I need to work this job right. It is located in Neosho Mo, USA
